Early Life and Education

Belinda Smith Sullivan was born in 1951 in rural Georgia. Growing up on a small farm, she developed a deep love for the land and a strong work ethic. After graduating from high school, she attended the University of Georgia, where she earned a degree in horticulture.

Founding Just Peachy Orchards

After graduating from college, Sullivan returned to her hometown and founded Just Peachy Orchards in 1978. With a small loan and a lot of hard work, she began planting peach trees on her family's land. Over the years, she expanded her operation, eventually becoming the largest peach orchard in the southeastern United States.

Innovations in Peach Growing

Sullivan was known for her innovative approach to peach growing. She implemented sustainable farming practices, such as using cover crops to improve soil health and integrated pest management to reduce pesticide use. She also developed new varieties of peaches that were more resistant to pests and diseases.

Philanthropy and Community Involvement

Throughout her life, Sullivan was deeply involved in her community. She served on the board of directors of several non-profit organizations, including the Georgia Peach Council and the Georgia Agricultural Education Foundation. She was also a generous donor to schools, churches, and other community organizations.

Awards and Recognition

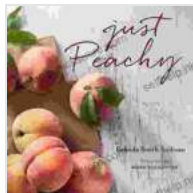

Sullivan's accomplishments earned her numerous awards and recognition. In 2010, she was inducted into the Georgia Women's Hall of Fame. In 2012, she received the USDA's Woman in Agriculture Award. And in 2015, she was named a James Beard Award finalist for her work promoting sustainable farming.

Legacy

Belinda Smith Sullivan passed away in 2020, leaving behind a legacy of passion, hard work, and service. Just Peachy Orchards continues to operate today, producing some of the finest peaches in the world. And Sullivan's philanthropic efforts will continue to impact her community for years to come.

Belinda Smith Sullivan was a remarkable woman who achieved great success in business, philanthropy, and community involvement. Her passion for peach growing, her innovative spirit, and her dedication to making the world a better place will continue to inspire generations to come.
